

Secondary health professions educators are not required to possess a Baccalaureate degree. However, they must be currently credentialed as health professions and certified / certifiable as a professional-technical educator by the Idaho Division of Professional-Technical Education. Some credentialing agencies, like the Idaho Board of Nursing or Emergency Medical Services Bureau, may require work experience and other qualifications.

Dental Assisting:

Instructors of this course must be Certified Dental Assistants or higher. Also, they must be certified as secondary professional-technical educators by the Idaho Division of Professional-Technical Education.

Medical Terminology

This course must be taught by a credentialed health care professional such as a registered nurse, technologist, technician, physician, dentist, therapist, etc. This individual also must be certified as a secondary professional-technical educator by the Idaho Division of Professional-Technical Education.

Anatomy and Physiology

This course must be taught by a credentialed health care professional such as a registered nurse, technologist, technician, physician, dentist, therapist, etc. This individual also must be certified as a secondary professional-technical educator by the Idaho Division of Professional-Technical Education.

Note: High school K-12 teachers are not eligible to teach this course unless they are credentialed health care professionals and certified as professional-technical educators.

Sports Medicine:

The instructor for this course must be an athletic trainer registered with the Idaho State Board of Medicine. (Other requirements may apply.)